Location

The Cerrado lies in central Brazil. While it rains a lot here, the showers only fall during half the year, so it is dry for the other half.

This mound houses a termite colony.

Termites

Termites are ant-sized insects that build their own "cities." These huge mounds get up to 30 in (77 cm) high. The mounds have underground chambers where workers store wood, care for eggs, and even grow fungal gardens for food!

Soldier termites protect the mound with their huge jaws.

Worker termites are smaller than soldiers and don't have large jaws.
