

A broken orange line shows where the border is between two continents.