

Gold-robed and crowned, Elizabeth was seated on the throne, holding two scepters as symbols of her rule.